YELLOW JACKET SOCCER BLOG

September 27, 2016

The Blog, "A tradition unlike any other."

Never fear, my dear readers. I've returned as promised although from what I've heard Graham was a more than capable substitute so I know you didn't suffer too greatly in my absence. It was a somewhat eventful week. I would call it a learning week.

Monday hit us like a big bag full of overripe reality after our long week-ends (West Virginia for my brothers and my sister's fantastic wedding for myself), but we made it through thanks in no small part to the miraculous powers of a college student's overstressed immune system's best friend NyQuil. If I remember correctly, we had Li' Dribblers that night, which is always a blast, but didn't exactly make the day seem any shorter after class, practice, and homework.

Then it was Tuesday all of a sudden. You'd think after my 21 years of life on this planet I'd be able to see that coming Monday night, but for some reason it was hard this week and, for myself at least, Tuesday came flying around the corner after Monday night like Coach Knight driving a team van in a hurry. I understand you may not be able to sympathize with me in this specifically, but I'm telling you it's a great analogy. As close a parallel as I've been able to find outside of geometry class with mom during "middle school" at my kitchen table. Despite the fact that it snuck up so aggressively, Tuesday was another great day. Practice was a pre-game day practice with more finishing and crossing built into the session because, as we're learning all too clearly, they are two very important things.

Wednesday we went to California. The one in Pennsylvania. And we passed through West Virginia on the way. So far this semester WV has been our home away from home away from home (home away from home being Castle Brock and home being home). Most of the guys, and I'm sure many of our professors, feel like we've spent more time there than in Cedarville recently and as beautiful as the hills are, I can't say that I would make that drive just for kicks and giggles. The movies on the docket this time were Happy Gilmore (as you may have observed if you followed us on snapchat under username jacketsoccer – word has it that a particularly handsome and eligible member of the team took it over for the day, but I digress) and The Express: The Ernie Davis Story. Very different main characters, but both great movies.

As we were passing through WV we naturally went to a small Italian restaurant (because everyone knows that WV is known for its incredible Italian food) where we were served by a gentlemen with well cared-for hair and one glove. I doubt the mob has much going on in that region of the country, but that one-gloved man definitely got a little extra respect from us because at least subconsciously we didn't want to get on his bad side. That is, until he told one table that we would be getting key lime pie following our meal. And didn't mean a word of it. It was actually reminiscent of a certain experience that I had involving supposedly stuffed crust pizza and Coach Brett "I have a quote for that" Faro, but that's neither here nor there. I don't know what it is, but I guess I just take food more seriously than some people. There were more ups and downs on the emotional roller coaster I was riding in that restaurant than there were on our hilly drive through WV to PA.

Thursday we had the day off practice after getting back late from a tough away game, but we decided to meet as a team to talk about some things. So don't you worry – I saw the soccer guys. I know, scary that we almost went a whole day without doing something together, but never fear. After our meeting we headed out to cheer on the Lady Jackets to a 1-0 victory over Malone (I think?). At halftime of their game, we had our second-to-last Li' Dribblers games of the season on the game field, which was, as always an absolute party. I know you're wondering so I'll tell you – YES, the one and only Blue Whales still have incredible team spirit and are still the only team legitimately named the Blue Whales despite what Conner "The Lesser" Hughes, coach of the light blue team would have you believe. You can sleep in peace now.

Friday we had morning practice. At 7 a.m. in the morning. When it's still dark out. And everything is wet and chilly. And it was actually a great session. The turnaround from practice to 9 a.m. classes is always a little tight, but we made it and were able to consume enough caffeine to delay the necessary naps until much later in the day. Friday night a few of us graying yellow jackets, including assistant coach Zachary "Does This Fedora Make Me Look Fat?" Harris, headed to Cincy for the wedding of the one and only Jarrett "Hey, you wanna do something?" Kersten. We had fun, but not too much fun because Saturday was game day and we also had to be on our game in the morning for the final Li' Dribblers game of the year.

So it was a pretty good week, but it was definitely not an easy one. We had two tough results and no matter how well you play, that's never good for team morale. I said earlier that I would call it a learning week because when things don't go your way you have no choice but to learn and move on. So that's what we've done. Last week we learned in a deeper way what it means to be a team. We learned what it means to be brothers. We were reminded of what it means to play "For Him" in the face of some absolutely gut-wrenching adversity and we're coming out of it a tighter team and better men.

So, as always, we're looking forward to the week to come, but even more so this week so that we can start the first week of the rest of our season the right way.

Go Jackets!

TONIGHT'S GAME

The Cedarville University men's soccer team hosts the Malone University Pioneers in a Great Midwest Athletic Conference (G-MAC) game tonight at Yellow Jacket Field.

Cedarville is currently 3-4-1 overall (2-1-1 G-MAC) including a 2-1 non-league overtime loss to Lee University on Saturday evening.

The Pioneers, first-year members of the G-MAC, are 1-6-1 (0-4-1 G-MAC) in 2016. Malone dropped a 1-0 verdict at Ohio Valley on Saturday in their most recent action.

The Yellow Jackets, under the direction of fourth-year Head Coach Brett Faro (45-15-9), return another solid nucleus from last year's G-MAC championship squad.

G-MAC Offensive Player of the Year and fifth-year forward Connor Gilmour is back for a final encore. Gilmour was an NCAA Division II All-American and an All-Midwest Region Team pick. He leads the Jackets with three goals for six points.

Connor Gilmour

Fellow senior Joel Twinem is second on the squad with a goal and an assist for three points.

Other CU goal scorers this season include: Jon Brown, Bryce Childers, Sebastian Duque, Aaron Plummer, Sean Reilly and Greg Williams.

Yellow Jacket senior keeper Paulo Pinto ranks second in CU's career goals against average list (0.89). Pinto has allowed 11 goals in seven games this year while making 25 saves.

Malone is led by Head Coach Brian Stock who is in his fifth year with the Pioneers (17-50-5).

Freshman midfielder Gino Finelli tops the Pioneer scoring list with two goals including the game-winner in Malone's season-opening 1-0 verdict against Slippery Rock.

Gino Finelli

Junior Robert Nemes and senior Nick Astalos are the only other two players to find the back of the net in 2016.

Sophomore keeper Cody Hilty is seeing most of the action in the nets. He has allowed 14 goals while registering 34 saves.

Cedarville holds a 34-13-5 lead in the all-time series with the Pioneers including a 132-56 margin in goals scored. The teams first met in 1966 - a 3-0 Yellow Jacket victory.
